

HEWS MEDIA WINS FRIVOLOUS LAWSUIT FILED BY DISGRUNTLED LA MIRADA POLITICIAN ANDREW SAREGA

Sarega filed almost concurrently with Central Basin Water Director Leticia Vasquez' lawsuit to inflict maximum financial damage to HMG-CN.

HMG-CN STAFF REPORT

Hews Media Group Publisher Brian Hews has once again won a frivolous lawsuit, this time defeating current La Mirada Councilman Andrew Sarega who had filed the lawsuit to "put the La Mirada Lamplighter out of business," by claiming the 43-year-old newspaper's legal advertising standing had expired.

ANDREW SAREGA

This follows a December 2016 victory in which Hews defeated a bogus defamation case filed by Central Basin Municipal Water Director Leticia Vasquez.

Vasquez was "represented" by Nana Gyamfi, apparently the only attorney Vasquez could find to represent her, as witnessed by Gyamfi's seven major suspensions by the California Bar Association for flagrant violations.

But it was obvious to Hews and his attorney that Vasquez' husband, Ron Wilson, was responsible for most of the litigation, saving Vasquez tens of thousands in fees.

Sarega filed in pro per, meaning he represented himself during the case, and like Vasquez, paid nothing in legal fees since her husband did the legal work.

Sarega's lawsuit, filed against his hometown community newspaper, was in retribution of several, accurate articles published by Hews during the 2017 City Council election.

The articles culminated in an ongoing California Fair Political Practices Commission investigation of Sarega, his running mate Tony Aiello, and current Congressional candidate Stelian Onufrie, that was initiated in March 2017.

Sarega's in pro per standing was the primary reason he lost his case.

HMG-CN INVESTIGATION: ABCUSD BOND PUBLIC RELATIONS FIRM'S CORPORATE ADDRESS IS A UPS STORE, CLIENT LIST ALSO SUSPECT

BY BRIAN HEWS

In March, the ABCUSD Board considered and approved two organizations that will help them pass a much-needed $200 million facilities bond to upgrade its aging infrastructure.

The Board easily approved a contract with Piper Jaffray as the firm to advise the district on the financial complexities of the bond process.

But when a vote came to approve another company for community outreach, AMN Key Solutions (AMN) owned by Ann Nock, the meeting became extremely heated.

The day before, Hews Media Group-Community News published a wide-ranging investigative story about AMN that revealed, among other things, a suspect AMN web site and a shocking lack of social media presence.

Board member Chris Apodaca wanted to table (delay) the AMN vote and call a special meeting. The special meeting could have occurred within days, rendering no effect on the implementation of the community outreach.

Vice-President Leticia Mendoza echoed Apodaca's statements of concern with AMN and asked the vote to be tabled.

Clerk of the Board Olga Rios and Board member Ernie Nishii were also concerned with the website and social media.

Hearing the objections, an angry Board President Soo Yoo interjected saying, "I do not want delays."

Board member Sophia Tse cut off Apodaca and wanted to move on AMN, as did Superintendent Dr. Mary Sieu who argued against sending out a new bid that "would delay the process."

The meeting became heated and the vote to table the item was finally called.

Roll call was taken- Table (delay) the vote - Apodaca, Mendoza, and Rios.

Do not delay the vote- Yoo, Law, Tse, and Nishii.

Yoo then quickly called a vote to approve the AMN contract. Not wanting to show disunity, the Board voted to approve the contract by a 7-0 tally.

But the concerns of Vice President Mendoza and Board member Apodaca about AMN remained.

And those concerns turned out to be valid.

CRISTINA GARCIA SLAMMED BY CALIFORNIA BASED I/E THAT LAUNCHED STATEWIDE CAMPAIGN

HMG-CN Staff Report

Cerritos, Ca. ~ Working Californians Against Corruption, a California based independent expenditure committee, has launched a scathing print and digital campaign opposing embattled Assembly woman Cristina Garcia in the upcoming election.

CRISTINA GARCIA

One of the leaders of the #MeToo movement, Garcia was accused of groping and sexual harassment in February of this year and immediately took a voluntary leave of absence. She is under investigation by the Assembly Rules Committee for the violations.

YOUTH CENTER ALUMNI OVERCAME ADVERSITY, OPENS EATERY ENJOYED AT LEISURE WORLD

By Laurie Hanson

After a car accident in her third year of college and residual injuries that forced her to drop out of school temporarily, 25-year-old Los Alamitos resident Sara Ho who grew up attending The Youth Center realized her ultimate dream to have a bakery dessert shop.

"I have always had a huge passion for baking, and one day always secretly hoped I would have a bakery," said Ho. "However, it took me several years to gain the confidence that I could one day do it."

Upon advice from her doctors and family, Ho took time off her studies to recuperate from a concussion and facial injuries. It would take her two full years to recover. She returned to school a semester later and graduated from Cal State Long Beach in 2015 with her bachelor's degree in American Studies, with a minor in Hospitality Foodservice and Hotel Management.

While working her way through college, she had always tried to approach different jobs like teaching, management or office work because she was always told having a bakery was not realistic. Although it temporarily caused her to turn away from her dreams of having a bakery or believing it could be a viable career, she never stopped baking and was always told she needed a place of her own to showcase all desserts she'd create.

"So as I continued to work other jobs and go to college to focus on other careers, I pushed baking to the side and only viewed it as something I could do as a hobby," Ho said. It was through working in her first professional cooking job at Roy's Hawaiian/Japanese restaurant that her confidence in her dreams eventually grew. She saw she could bake for a living, doing what she absolutely loved.

"Opening a business is a huge investment and change of life, so it is best to make sure you are 100 percent certain you can do it and want to do it professionally before diving in," she said. With the help and encouragement of family and friends, she opened A LA WAFFLE at 10893 Los Alamitos Blvd., in Los Alamitos about four months ago, giving back to the community that has given her so much over the years. As a former student at Rossmoor Elementary, Oak Middle School who graduated from Los Alamitos High School in 2010, she said The Youth Center was her "second home" that helped her "tremendously."

"The Youth Center provided a place to eat, do my homework, meet and hang out with friends, and be surrounded by great mentors and adults to learn from and look up to," Ho said. "I remember having a place to go to after school so I didn't feel so alone going home. It made me productive and created a space where I could do homework while being surrounded by peers."

Ho said a huge part of who she is was created at The Youth Center where she was given many opportunities to serve her community and taught the importance of giving back at a very young age. She especially loved volunteering at the Christmas Tree Lot and at the Senior Lunch Program which is held out of The Youth Center building each weekday morning.

"With all their volunteer opportunities like the Christmas Tree Lot and the Senior Lunch Program, I learned customer service, having a job, creating friendships with people of all ages, and giving back to my community," she explained. "All of these traits I learned from The Youth Center and they only continued to grow as I went on into my future. Without them I would not be able to succeed in having my own business."

"The Youth Center created an amazing foundation for me as a young teen," Ho said. "They taught me that school and studying were important, which carried me to finish high school and college." With the help of family and friends, she pushed through and made sure she went back to college to finish her degree.

"My advice to other kids would be to try your hardest to push yourself to finish school and do all your homework even if it might not be something you are interested in," She said. "It is an extremely important lesson to prove to yourself that you can finish and complete things even when you don't want to. It's responsibility, which is a huge part of being an adult."

Ho is grateful for the countless hours of work her family and friends put in that enabled her to open A LA WAFFLE. "Believe in yourself and surround yourself with people who are positive and wanting to achieve great things," she said. "The people around you make a bigger difference in your life than you may think. In the end, follow your dreams and spread positivity in your life and to others."

Remember last year when Trump and his Republicans in Congress bragged that his huge tax cut plan would create jobs and raise wages? They theorized that since big corporations and their top executives will get a huge tax cut they will "spend, expand, and hire."

And Trump was right! They are SPENDING money buying back their own stocks, EXPANDING their own corporate wealth in doing so, and HIRING advisors to manage all the money they will personally earn.

I told my good friend Deacon Mario Guerra this months ago and he scoffed. He is a huge Trump fan.

Several large corporations in America are participating in what is called buy back schemes. They are using their Trump tax windfall to buy back the stock of their own corporations.

Why are they doing this? What else, simple math, the kind even Trump can understand.

Also there is this thing called fiduciary duty.

When a corporation buys back shares of stock, it reduces the number out in the market.

Since there is less outstanding, the value of each remaining share increases giving the executives a bigger piece of the company profit.

And they get more ownership because most of their pay comes in the form of millions of stock options, so when they leave the company they earn huge money.

OP/ED
TRUMP WAS RIGHT ABOUT HIS TAX CUTS

Hard to believe? Since Trump signed the bill, companies have announced $170.8 billion in stock buy backs.

Google is spending $8.9 billion on its buy back scheme, PepsiCo $13 billion, Apple this week announced $100 billion buyback. That's not a typo, billion.

Some will argue it is good for shareholders, I agree. But then again I do not own stock, I own (a very small) portfolio, and it was reported by Time that 10% of the nation owns 84% of outstanding stock.

If Trump and his Republicans really wanted to affect our economy they would have written rules to stop buy backs. But of course that did not happen. Worse, the tax cuts are ballooning the deficit, already projected to be $1.3 trillion by 2020. But that is what Republicans do, they privatize the profits and socialize the losses. It is what happened during the Bush II years, after which Obama cleaned up his mess. As it was during the Bush II years, the Trump tax cuts are stiffing workers, making big corporate executives even wealthier, and increasing income inequality. Instead of SPENDING tax dollars to fix our roads and schools, increasing public safety, building public transit and addressing other urgent national needs that would EXPAND the economy and cause HIRING of our workers, our tax dollars are going to pay for the largest tax cut in the history of the U.S., All without spending cuts. And in the last couple months, under performing job growth. What is the most egregious part of this? Those same corporations and executives will spend their new-found windfall on keeping the idiots who voted for the tax cut in office. Let's hope that Blue Wave hits hard this coming November. It already hit Speaker Paul (Eddie Munster) Ryan, Mr. Tax Cut himself.

SU CASA'S 'GALA OF LIGHT' A HUGE SUCCESS

Su Casa presented its 1st Annual Gala of Light Saturday, April 21 at the beautiful Old Ranch Country Club.

Supporters of Su Casa enjoyed a great evening of auctions, raffles, a steak or salmon dinner, and entertainment by the King Salmon Band.

Some of the great auction prizes taken home that evening included Round Trip Airfare anywhere in the US and a hotel and long term parking from Southwest Airlines and Courtyard Marriot, Disneyland Park Hopper Tickets, and an incredible Madonna Inn winetasting adventure.

Board of Directors Chair Susan Held began the evening's program.

Ms. Held provided comments and introduced Executive Director Anna Conti who addressed the audience of Su Casa's accomplishments over the past year.

Karen D'ingillo, a member of the board of directors, author, was the evening's inspirational speaker.

D'ingillo presented her life story of domestic abuse, her life's trajectory to today, and how agencies such as Su Casa are so important to our community.

The audience was deeply touched by her honest and emotional description of how domestic violence impacted her family.

Following Karen's address, thousands of dollars was raised in a Raise the Paddle event, led by Debbie Vince and Robert McKenna.

Audience members were able to provide financial support for areas of need for Su Casa – Ending Domestic Violence.

The rest of the evening was spent dancing to King Salmon and regaling the very successful fundraising event to support Su Casa.

Su Casa – Ending Domestic Violence is a non-profit organization dedicated to combating domestic violence and to providing programs and services in support of domestic violence survivors.

munities centered around high-quality train systems. Supporters say TOD's make it possible to live a lower-stress life without complete dependence on a car for mobility and survival.

Supporters also claim that TOD's are a major solution to the serious and growing problems of climate change and global energy security. TOD's creating dense, walkable communities that greatly reduce the need for driving and energy consumption. This type of living arrangement can reduce driving by up to 85%.

They are also beautiful to look at.

The site is approximately 32,000 square feet in area and located on the southwest corner of Bellflower Boulevard and Mayne Street, with an adjacent 35,000 sq. ft. of City-owned parking lot to the rear.

The development will encompass the entire block, including the privately-owned parcels fronting Bellflower Blvd., to attract the local and regional population to Bellflower's Downtown.

Jim DellaLonga told HMG-CN that the developer will build and market the TOD. "The number of living units will be left up to the developer," DellaLonga said, "it's up to the developers and what they can design to work effectively and pencil out economically on that site."

He also indicated that the developers will be building the project, and footing the bill, not the City. "The City owns the former Greek Market property on the corner of Bellflower Blvd. and Mayne St. as well as the parking lot in the rear."

DellaLonga finished, "With the recent completion of the Mayne Event Center and LA County Fire Museum, the landing of SteelCraft Bellflower in Downtown, the regional transit center parking structure starting construction this year across Mayne Street, and the future Bellflower Boulevard light rail station on the north side of the transit right-of-way, the City feels this is an excellent Transit Oriented, Mixed-Used Development opportunity and we're looking forward to seeing what the TOD development community brings to the table for this site."

The award is expected in July with start date of mid-August. For more info. contact the City of Bellflower's Economic Development Department at 562 804-1424.

GARCIA

Shortly after leaving the Assembly, several additional accusations surfaced including Garcia asking staffers to play "Spin the Bottle" after a party, installing a "kegerator" in her office, and calling some legislators "homos."

It was reported just this week that former Assembly Speaker John Perez reprimanded Garcia for her slurs against Asians.

One of the first volleys fired by the I/E was a full-page print advertisement (at the end of this article) placed in Cerritos-based Hews Media Group-Community News slamming Garcia for her sexual harassment violations.

The advertisement compares Garcia to President Donald Trump and his now infamous recording on the Access Hollywood bus that caught Trump saying he grabbed women's genitalia.

The advertisement has a picture of Garcia and President Donald Trump with a headline that proclaims, "It Used To Be An Honor To Be Compared To The President."

Below the headline are several complimentary headlines published by online news organization and major newspapers including HMG-CN, POLITICO, SLATE, Los Angeles Times, and ESQUIRE.

POLITICO: #MeToo lawmaker investigated for sexual misconduct;

HMG-CN: Asm. Garcia Took $7,000 for Hustler Publisher Larry Flynt;

LAT: Audio of Trump stunning, will it make voters flee?;

ESQUIRE: As of today, a vote for Trump is a vote for grabbing women's p*ssy;

SLATE: Trump was recorded in 2005 grabbing woman by the p*ssy.

The ad is encouraging the use of hashtags for social media including #hypocrite and #timesup.

The I/E has set up a Facebook page at WorkingCaliforniansAgainstCorruption and also a Twitter account @corruptcris-tina.

Erin Lehane, spokesperson for the I/E told HMG-CN, "We are looking forward to informing the voters about what Cristina Garcia has been up to in Sacramento. We are certain Garcia's egregious conduct does not reflect the values of the hard-working people of the 58th Assembly District."

NLMUSD HOLDS FIRST ANNUAL 'ACADEMIC SIGNING DAY'

By Tammye McDuff

For the first time, the Norwalk La Mirada Unified School District and seniors of La Mirada High School held a National Academic Signing Day. Over 300 students, wearing college clothes and hats of their choice, signed a commitment to further their education on the football field in front of the entire student body.

“Welcome to our first Annual Academic Signing Day,” began Principal Lisa Reed, “freshman, sophomores, and juniors ... I want you to take a look at the field this morning and realize that this will be you very soon. What we are celebrating today is the accomplishments of our class mates.” Reed went on to sing the praises of all the academic AP classes, club participation, Pathways, AVID and community involvement that the seniors had accomplished.

Graduating 2018 seniors gathered on Tuesday, May 1st as a real and symbolic signing of acceptance letters to colleges, service academies, trade schools and other institutions. The signing took place on the Matador football field. The event is the first of its kind for the 1,900 student campus. The entire student body, along with parents, family and friends watched as seniors walked to their college of choice section amid the cheers of administrators, teachers the marching band and cheer squad.

“This is a great opportunity for the community to see what it’s all about, the positive results of our public education system,” says Chris Pflanzner, President of the NLMUSD Board of Education, “to see how our kids have grown, learned and become college and career ready. It is a great day for the families as well.”

The date of May 1st is the traditional college acceptance day, and the goal of Signing Day is to showcase the college readiness and life-after-high-school plans of seniors as a capstone salute to their K-12 academic career and to inspire underclassmen.

“This is another perfect example of how our district is fulfilling its passion and promise of preparing our students for the future,” noted Dr. Hasmik Danielian, NLMUSD Superintendent, “these seniors are moving on with confidence and pride to the college and career of their choosing.”

Many of the local school representatives were in attendance from Biola, Cerritos College, Rio Hondo College CSU Long Beach, UCLA and USC. Among the more distant colleges there that day were UC Berkeley, Cornell University, Boston University, Southern New Hampshire University and the University of Southern Mississippi.

“Today we celebrate the fact that these seniors will go on to accomplish great things,” said Reed, “these students have filled out applications, parents have spent many dollars on those applications, but these students have perused their goals and we are proud of them.”

NORWALK'S RASHAAD PENNY TO LIVE OUT DREAM, GETS DRAFTED BY THE SEATTLE SEAHAWKS

BY LOREN KOPFF
@LORENKOPFF ON TWITTER

Rashaad Penny, the former Norwalk High football standout who will graduate from San Diego State University in a few weeks, never expected to be selected in the first round of the 2018 National Football League draft. In fact, on Apr. 26, the first day of the draft, he had gone to workout at 24-Hour Fitness in Cerritos before doing some shopping for little things to decorate his house in anticipation of getting that call the next day.

But sometimes the best things happen when you least expect it and Penny was selected by the Seattle Seahawks in the 27th pick on the first night of the draft.

"It was a dream come true," Penny said. "I really couldn't put it all together.

I never knew it was going to happen soon, but it happened, and I thought I was in the best situation."

Penny, who became the SDSU's ninth first-round pick in school history, was one of the top running backs in the nation for his career, rushing for 2,248 yards and picking up 2,974 all-purpose yards, both fifth all-time. He was second in the nation in rushing touchdowns last fall with 23 and among his many accolades, he was fifth in the voting for the Heisman Trophy.

Penny had a feeling he would get the call from Seattle instead of another team and went as far as to buy several Seahawks hats from Lids in the Los Cerritos Center the day of the draft. Some of the people who were invited to come to his house on Friday didn't come on Thursday because they didn't think he would go in the first round

"We all knew it was a big surprise because once I got that phone call, it was just mind-blowing," Penny said. "After that, the GM and the head coach got on the phone and asked if I wanted to be a Seahawk."

Penny said that after the NFL combine, he took about 30 visits to see the facilities of all the NFL teams and see the GM's and head coaches one last time before the draft. He had a feeling who was interested in him and they said if he was still around by the time it was their pick, they would select him. However, he never went to Seattle for the initial visit but heard from trainers and people upstairs that Seattle was very high on him. Among the final 12 teams who were interested in him were Cleveland, Denver, Detroit, Green Bay, the Los Angeles Chargers, the Los Angeles Rams, Miami, New England, Philadelphia and Tampa Bay.

"This is a once in a lifetime deal and a lot of people don't get drafted," Penny said. "That's how I look at it. If I had to go to the East Coast, I would have gone to the East Coast. But I prefer staying in the west. I'm happy about where I'm at right now."

To add what has already been a great week in the Penny household is the fact that he will now be playing in the same division as his older brother, Elijah, who will be entering his third season as a member of the Arizona Cardinals. Both teams will face each other twice as divisional rivals with the first time coming in Week 4 on Sept. 30 in Glendale. They'll meet again on Dec. 30 in Seattle, the final regular season game.

The two brothers have played against each other once, that coming in Nov. 2014 when Elijah was playing for the University of Idaho and the Vandals paid a visit to SDSU.

"That just adds more competition to our family," Rashaad Penny said. "We're already competitive as it is. But for us to go against each other twice a year, that's going to be fun. I know he's excited for it. But for me personally, I think it's definitely going to be competition and I can't wait to go against him."

When Seattle head coach Pete Carroll called Penny for the first time on Apr. 26, he told him that he was excited and everybody in the draft room was excited that he was available.

"They got me because they think I can be their guy," Penny said. "I have the ability to help them win and I think that's why they chose me. He told me that I'm a three-down guy that they're looking for. I just have to come in and compete and compete and do what I do and play the way I play."

Penny, who was also a kickoff and punt return specialist as SDSU, said he's not sure if the Seahawks will use him for those duties as well. He was scheduled to speak with his running backs coach this past Tuesday who was going to give Penny a little breakdown of what's going to happen and what they expect him to do.

In a draft that was dominated by five quarterbacks getting selected in the first round and 15 defensive players, Penny was the second of three running backs taken in the first round. The first was Saquon Barkley, who went to the New York Giants as the second pick overall. Miami also picked Sony Michel four spots after Penny was selected.

"It definitely came as a surprise because you read a lot of mock drafts and you see a lot of predictions," Penny said. "But it's all up to the GM's and what they think. I thought it was pretty special that they see me as a No. 2 back [coming out] because they see my capabilities and what I can do as a football player."

SANTA FE HS SENIOR EARNS ADMIRATION, AWARD

DESCRIBED AS A QUIET LEADER, Santa Fe High School senior Analyse Garcia has profound focus on school, community service and family. The Advancement Via Individual Determination (AVID) student was recognized with an Award of Merit from the Whittier Union Board of Trustees on April 10. She is pictured with, from left, Board Members Leighton Anderson, Tim Schneider and Jeff Baird, Board Vice President Russell Castañeda-Calleros and Board President Dr. Ralph Pacheco.

STAFF REPORT

WHITTIER – During her time at Santa Fe High School, senior Analyse Garcia has developed an unparalleled drive and profound focus for success. A quiet leader, Garcia’s concentration on academics, community service, athletics and extracurricular activities have earned her respect, recognition and admiration from her peers, school and District.

Garcia, who carries a 4.12 GPA and places in the top 5 percent of Santa Fe’s senior class, was recognized by the Whittier Union High School District Board of Trustees with a Certificate of Merit on April 10.

“Santa Fe has truly prepared me for my next journey, to attend a four-year university, where I will continue to strive for success and further my leadership within the school community,” Garcia said. “I would like to thank the teachers, staff and students of Santa Fe for positively impacting my last four years, as well as my family for all of their support.”

When Garcia began her freshman year at Santa Fe, she enrolled in one Honors class and joined the school’s Advancement Via Individual Determination (AVID) college preparatory program. She has since completed 14 Honors/Advanced Placement courses, as well as a dual enrollment course through Rio Hondo College. She is on the road to completing two additional AP courses.

“Analyse brings an intense focus to all she does,” Santa Fe AVID teacher Alejandra Gonzalez said. “She may be perceived as quiet by many, but her accomplishments in class, on the field and in the community are gently bold, insistent on high quality and thunderous in success. She is inspiring.”

Garcia plans to study nursing and pursue a career as a neonatal nurse specialist. She has volunteered at several area hospitals and healthcare facilities, currently spending her Friday nights assisting at the front desk at Kaiser Permanente Bellflower.

Active as a member of the Principal’s Honor Court, Black and Gold Nation, Daisy Chain and Chieftain Friends, Garcia also has been a Girl Scout for nine years, building confidence in young women and encouraging them to do good work through community service.

Garcia is also a two-sport athlete who competes at the varsity level in softball and volleyball. As a sophomore, Garcia was MVP of the Santa Fe softball team as well as Del Rio League Pitcher of the Year.

She is still deciding which university she will attend: UC Santa Barbara, UC Irvine or the University of San Diego. “Because of her strong work ethic, drive and desire for success, we know Analyse will be successful in whatever path she takes,” Santa Fe Principal Craig Campbell said. “We are very proud of Analyse. She is an amazing woman who exemplifies everything we want from a graduate of Santa Fe High School and the Whittier Union High School District.”

SUBURBAN LEAGUE BASEBALL : JOHN GLENN SEES LEAGUE TITLE CHANCES DIM AFTER ANOTHER CLOSE LOSS TO LA MIRADA

BY LOREN KOPFF
@LORENKOPFF ON TWITTER

LA MIRADA-John Glenn High's baseball team was bit with a case of déjà vu when it visited Suburban League nemesis La Mirada High with first place on the line. When the two teams had met just two days prior, Glenn grabbed a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the fourth inning, only to see the Matadores answer back with three in the top of the fifth.

Last Friday was the same except that Glenn added one more run in the top of the sixth but couldn't get the tying or go-ahead runs in a 3-2 loss. The Eagles, who had entered the week tied with the Matadores for first place in the league, fell to 16-7 overall and 6-2 in league action.

"In that last game, they went double, double, home run," said Glenn head coach Jack Brooks. "This game, we gave it away. We throw the ball away on a [pickoff attempt] and we were in control of the game right there. That's baseball and we have to learn from that and we have to grow. The way we played today...we outplayed them and we didn't come away with the victory and that's really tough to swallow."

Glenn was looking to beat La Mirada for the first time since 2015 and fourth time since at least 1998. It was also looking to win on La Mirada's field for the first time since 2014, which was a 1-0 win. That is the only win at La Mirada since at least 1999.

Glenn junior pitcher Joseph Angulo was on fire through the first four innings, allowing just a first inning double to Jared Jones, a two-out first inning walk to Brandon Rho and a third baserunner the next inning who reached on an error.

Angulo retired seven straight at one point and struck out four through the first four innings.

"He was light's out," Brooks said. "That was Joe; he competes. Joseph is going to Cal Poly [San Luis Obispo]; he's already committed there, and he's going there as a position player. He goes out there and competes and finds a way to get outs."

Meanwhile, the offense gave him a little support in the top of the fourth when Emilio Morales walked senior shortstop Humberto Chiquito, advanced on a single from junior center fielder Damone Hale and slid under the tag from La Mirada catcher Darius Perry at home on a single from junior catcher Alexis Martinez.

However, that was lost in the next frame when Angulo yielded a base hit to Tyler Cappon, who moved to third when a pickoff attempt went errant. Three pitches later, Cappon tied the game when Dominic Martinez singled to left. Back to back singles from Eugene Jeon and Jones pit the Matadores up 2-1, which ended Angulo's day on the mound.

In came senior Jose Llamas and after an intentional walk to Perry, which loaded the bases, Rho's sacrifice fly gave the hosts that much needed insurance run. Llamas retired four of the last five batters he faced.

Glenn cut into that lead in the sixth when junior second baseman Joseph Figueroa doubled just inside third base and down the left field line. Two outs later, he came home on a two-bagger from Hale. After Martinez was walked, the Eagles were looking to tie the contest, but a fly-out ended that threat and they went three up, three down in the seventh.

SUBURBAN LEAGUE BASEBALL : CHIQUITO HANDCUFFS CERRITOS AS LATE SEASON STRUGGLES CONTINUE FOR THE DONS

BY LOREN KOPFF

John Glenn High senior pitcher Humberto Chiquito has been impressive all season long that he already has one vote for a possible Suburban League Pitcher of the Year award. At least that's how Cerritos High head coach Scott Parsonage feels.

Chiquito gave up one hit, allowed four other runners to reach base, faced one over the minimum and struck out 14 as the visiting Eagles blanked the Dons this past Wednesday. The win kept Glenn (17-7 overall, 7-2) in second place in the league and two games behind La Mirada High with three games remaining in the regular season.

"I felt really good," Chiquito said. "My defense was working [and] I had both pitches, my fastball and curveball, on and I found the zone. That's what it was."

"That guy is the best guy in the league by far," Parsonage said. "Humberto Chiquito is way better than [La Mirada's Jared] Jones. He's a true pitcher; Jones is a thrower and hasn't learned to pitch yet. He can throw the ball hard but he's not a pitcher yet. [Chiquito] knows how to pitch and it proves by being a senior and learning all those years."

Chiquito struck out all three batters in the bottom of the first and third innings and had a no-hitter going until the fifth. With one out, Cerritos sophomore shortstop Evan Vazquez singled to center but two pitches later, a double play ended the inning and Chiquito retired the next six batters.

Chiquito threw 71 pitches and did not throw more than six pitches to any batter. In fact, he threw six pitches to one batter before the last inning and no Cerritos runner reached second base.

"I don't let that get to me," Chiquito said. "I just pound the zone and every inning is a new inning."

"If you're not getting guys on base, you're not going to win a ballgame," Parsonage said. "You have swings that are way too big. Look at their leadoff guy; he can hit the ball out of the yard, but he shortens up and he sprays the ball all over the field because he's a competitor and he wants his team to win. He's given up his selfishness of hitting a double or a home run to get on base so the other guys on his team can move him around. Right now, we're young and we're not doing that."

Chiquito, who had a no-hitter at Oxford Academy to begin the regular season on Feb. 24, has started eight games, going the distance five times and improving to 6-2. In league competition, he is 4-1.

Meanwhile, the Eagles got all the runs they needed in the top of the third when two were on with one out before an infield single from junior second baseman Joseph Figueroa allowed senior designated hitter Sergio Burgos to score. After the second out, a base hit to left from junior center fielder Damone Hale plated junior shortstop Joseph Angulo.

Glenn, which collected 11 hits, would score again in the fourth and twice more in the fifth and seventh. Angulo went three for four and scored twice while

VALLEY CHRISTIAN ROUGHS UP WINLESS TEAM BEFORE SECOND ROUND OF LEAGUE PLAY BEGINS

BY LOREN KOPFF

The Valley Christian High softball team stepped out of Olympic League action to host winless Samuelli Academy last Thursday and the Lady Crusaders blasted the Firewolves 21-0 on a one-hitter from junior Katie Morewood. V.C. evened its mark at 8-8 at the time.

"I think we all did pretty well considering we were playing a team with a little less experience," Morewood said. "I think we kept our sportsmanship alright, kept our heads up and kept our energy in the game. I think that was great."

The first 14 batters to come to the plate in the bottom of the first scored and 13 of the first 14 runs were scored before the first out was recorded. Freshman catcher Quinn Livesay had a pair of triples and drove in four runs in the inning.

After not scoring in the second inning, despite loading the bases, and in the third, V.C. erupted for seven more tallies in the fourth. Again, Livesay came up with the big hit, a three-run home run to center. All three outs recorded by Samuelli Academy in the third and fourth innings came when V.C. runners left base early as well as one in the first and two in the second.

"I think that just really shows that we wanted to keep the other team's dignity up there," Morewood said. "We didn't want to make fun of them or make them feel bad because we've been there; we've lost by a lot before too. We understand what it's like and we just didn't want to do that to them,"

Everyone one in the starting nine had at least one hit and seven of the nine starters drove in at least a run. Livesay went four for four with seven RBI while junior third baseman Kyla Nunez-O'Leary also went four for four with two runs driven in. Sophomore shortstop Caitlyn Azevedo went three for three and drove in five runs and four others had a pair of hits.

In the circle, Morewood struck out 13 and walked one. She had a perfect game until she walked Thais Diaz with one out in the third, gave up a single to Olivia Williams in the fourth and hit Rhiannon Toan in the fifth.

"We went out there and we did our best and a lot of people got moments to shine and that was really nice," Morewood said. "We kept hitting the ball in play and that's what it's all about. That's what scores runs and that's what wins games."

V.C. was blanked by Village Christian 9-0 this past Tuesday to drop to 1-4 in league. Valley Christian hosted Whittier Christian High on May 3 and will visit Maranatha High on Tuesday before hosting Heritage Christian High on Thursday. For the Lady Crusaders to advance to the California Interscholastic Federation-Southern Section Division 6 playoffs, they need to win at least two of their final three games of the regular season.

"I think we have a lot more confidence after those games," Morewood said. "We've seen the teams; we know what they're all about and we're ready to go face them again. We've worked things out as a team. We know a lot more about each other and how we play as a team together. We're not ready to take losses against them anymore. We're going to go out and get them."

In other softball action, Artesia High pounded John Glenn High 14-3 this past Tuesday to improve to 9-10 overall and 4-5 in the Suburban League. The Lady Pioneers scored eight runs in the top of the first inning and every starter scored at least a run. Artesia visited Bellflower High on May 3 and will travel to league-leading Cerritos High on Monday before hosting Mayfair High on Wednesday. The Lady Eagles, who played in their first seven-inning game of the season, dropped to 2-15, 0-10. They visited Norwalk High on May 3 and will host La Mirada High on Monday.

Cerritos visited Mayfair on May 3 and a win would have clinched at least a share of the league title for the second straight season and fourth in the past five. The Lady Dons (16-4, 9-0) will also visit La Mirada on Wednesday.

Gahr High blanked Lynwood High 10-0 this past Tuesday to improve to 19-4, 7-0 in the San Gabriel Valley League. The Lady Gladiators, ranked second in the California Interscholastic Federation-Southern Section Division 1 poll, visited Warren High on May 3 and will entertain Paramount High on Monday before going to Downey High on Wednesday.

Norwalk (8-10, 4-6) snapped a three-game losing streak with a 3-0 win against Mayfair this past Tuesday. The Lady Lancers, who are battling Artesia for the fourth and final automatic playoff berth out of the Suburban League, will host Bellflower on Wednesday.

Whitney High was eliminated from playoff contention following a 5-1 setback to Calvary Chapel Downey High this past Tuesday. The Lady Wildcats (3-10, 1-5) will visit Brethren Christian High today and Crean Lutheran High on Tuesday in their final two games as a member of the Academy League.

BASEBALL

Artesia which lost to Norwalk 6-4 in eight innings last Friday and 16-0 to Mayfair this past Wednesday, fell to 1-23 and winless in 11 Suburban League games. The Pioneers will visit Mayfair today and host Royal High on Tuesday.

Gahr blanked Paramount 5-0 this past Tuesday and hosted the Pirates on May 3. The Gladiators (15-8, 6-1) will host San Clemente High on Saturday before facing Downey next week in a home and home series that will decide the San Gabriel Valley League champion. Gahr will be home on Tuesday and visit Downey on Thursday.

Norwalk fell to La Mirada 11-0 this past Wednesday to fall to 10-10, 4-5. The Lancers, who have won twice in the past eight games, visit La Mirada today and Cerritos on Tuesday before hosting Cerritos on Thursday.

Valley Christian, which was shutout by Maranatha High 2-0 this past Tuesday, dropped to 10-14 overall and 1-8 in the Olympic League. The Crusaders will host the Minutemen today and Heritage Christian High on Tuesday before traveling to Heritage Christian on Thursday.

Whitney fell to Sage Hill 10-0 this past Tuesday and is 5-10 overall, 2-7 in the Academy League as it hosted the Lightning today. The Wildcats will close out the regular season against Oxford Academy on Tuesday at home and Thursday on the road.

GLENN

Throughout the game, Brooks and his players were cheering and jumping up and down probably more than in any other game this season. The atmosphere in the dugout as well as in the stands was one that you would see in a California Interscholastic Federation-Southern Section championship game.

"We're playing for the Suburban League title," Brooks said. "Bottom line is we needed this game to win the league title and I wanted it that bad for these kids. I've won a Suburban League title, I've won a CIF title as a player, I've played at La Mirada. I want these kids to experience that. I was emotional, yes. I really wanted this game more for them than for any personal satisfaction."

La Mirada now has the inside track on a third straight league title, fifth in the last six seasons and 16th since 2000. The game marked the final time that the teams would face each other as Suburban League rivals, which would explain the added excitement from Brooks and his players. Glenn moves into the new 605 League next season.

"La Mirada, as much as I want to beat them, is a special place," Brooks said. "It's a great program, they get great players and it's unfortunate that we won't be have to have these battles anymore."

The Eagles, who got only five hits in the game, visited Cerritos High this past Wednesday and behind the arm of Chiquito, came away with a 7-0 victory. Chiquito yielded only one hit and struck out 11. Glenn will host the Dons today to cap off the critical home and home series for both teams, then will wrap up the regular season with a visit to Bellflower High on Tuesday and a home meeting with the Buccaneers on Thursday. Entering this past Monday, Glenn, ranked fourth in Division 4, was a game ahead of Bellflower (6-4) and two games in front of Cerritos and Norwalk High (4-4). Three of those four teams will advance to the playoffs.

"I wouldn't want to coach anywhere else or be around any...these kids are [really] special," Brooks said. "Bottom is, the wins and losses...who [cares]. The way these kids competed in this kind of atmosphere is what makes them better men and better husbands and better people in the future. It's special stuff."

Figueroa and Hale each had a pair of hits. Both teams will meet again today at Rio Hondo College with Angulo slated to pitch against Vazquez. The Eagles will then wrap up the regular season at Bellflower High on Tuesday and home against Buccaneers on Thursday.

"Finishing up strong, we definitely want to get seeded in CIF," Chiquito said. "We felt good as a team. Last week was a tough one but we came back [today] and we'll be ready to go on Friday as well."

Meanwhile, Cerritos (15-8, 4-5) will certainly be in a winner-take-all situation when it faces Norwalk High next week as both teams will vie for the final automatic playoff spot. The Lancers enter today's game at La Mirada ties with Cerritos for fourth place. The Dons will be home on Tuesday and travel to Norwalk on Thursday.

"Hopefully we'll come back tomorrow and make some adjustments hitting-wise and our swings and put the ball in play a little more," Parsonage said.

HMG-CN has obtained AMN's proposal for public relations from ABCUSD through a Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request.

Nock sent in the "Proposal to Provide ABC Unified with Public Relations Services" on March 7, 2018 to Joshie Cox, ABC's Director of Purchasing and Risk Management.

The proposal read in part, "AMN has developed and guided hundreds of public school districts [sic] bond feasibility and planning efforts."

Nock claimed to have three employees and a corporate office in Sacramento listing her address as 3053 Freeport Blvd., Suite 279 in Sacramento.

It was, however, an apparent ruse.

Upon closer inspection, the 3053 Freeport Blvd., Suite 279 is a UPS Store inside of a strip mall.

HMG-CN phoned acquaintances in Sacramento who drove by and confirmed the UPS Store and the location.

Other stores in the strip mall include an ice cream store, a nail salon, and a bail bondsman.

A call into the UPS Store confirmed that AMN occupies mail box 279 inside the store. "They have a package and a letter waiting," the UPS clerk told HMG-CN.

In addition, the address Nock listed on her liability insurance policy as another business address is actually a single family residence in Sacramento located on the 1200 block of Swanston Dr.

UPS STORE on Freeport in Sacramento that AMN/ Ann Nock claims is her corporate address.

The UPS Store is less than a mile from Nock's home.

Several texts and emails asking about the corporate address into Nock's email and phone number as listed on her proposal went unreturned.

Suspect Client List

Also included in the AMN bid documents was a list of 68 clients/school districts Nock claimed she assisted in public relations.

It is an impressive list, displaying school districts large and small from Northern California down to Riverside with several well-known districts in Los Angeles and Orange Counties.

But can Nock, who worked for George K. Baum (Baum) from 1994-2012, claim that she and her company worked exclusively with those school districts?

Baum's website seems to refute that claim.

During the investigation, HMG-CN found a list of school districts Baum worked with on their website.

Baum's "California Education Finance Group," listed 84 districts that they had assisted in passing bonds since 2002, including the ABCUSD.

Out of the 84 school districts Baum listed as former clients, Nock listed 57 as clients, giving the distinct impression that her company was exclusive to those clients.

And Nock was blatant in her client listings, boldly claiming the Yorba-Linda Placentia School District was an AMN client.

Yet a 2015 OC Register article about a 2008-2011 Yorba Linda-Placentia school bond indicated "the school board had hired George K. Baum & Co. and its staff of political strategists to help push the measure through so the district could continue an ambitious building spree."

Later in the article Ms. Nock was quoted, and her position at Baum was "Manager of the Baum Election Group," which coincided with her time of employment at Baum.

The article also quoted Al Gafford as working with Nock. Gafford ran Board member Sophia Tse's campaign as well as former Board member Linda Johnson's campaign.

SAME MAPS? Two maps that show the school districts that AMN and Baum serviced. AMN's is shown on bottom and George K. Baum's on top. The light blue areas represent clients on AMN, dark blue represents clients on Baum's map.

In addition, similar to Nock, Baum had posted a California map of clients on their website.

Placing the two maps side-by-side (above) revealed striking similarities.

HMG-CN then looked at the districts that were not on the Baum list of clients, but listed on the Nock list as clients.

Starting at the top of the map, HMG-CN called several school districts inquiring about services rendered by AMN and Nock.

Four out of the first six districts, Paradise, Willits, Ukiah, and Pittsburg Unified School Districts "never heard of her," and one, Willits, indicated they worked with Caldwell, Flores, and Winters for election services.

One district, Paradise, indicated that they have not passed a bond since 2001.

When questioned about the client list, Nock once again refused to answer several emails and texts.

HMG-CN contacted ABCUSD President Soo Yoo who did not return emails, Superintendent Dr. Mary Sieu was away

Apparently practicing for his role as a law school student starting this fall, he committed several sophomoric errors up to and including the trial that occurred this past week at the Norwalk Courthouse.

Sarega brought a notebook with exhibits to the trial, apparently thinking he would be able to present the exhibits to the judge, similar to lawyer-based shows he apparently watches on television.

But the judge focused on the relevant statute immediately after he entered the courtroom.

That saved Sarega from extreme embarrassment.

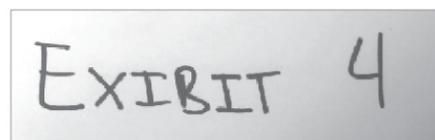

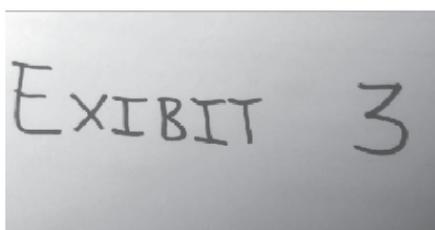

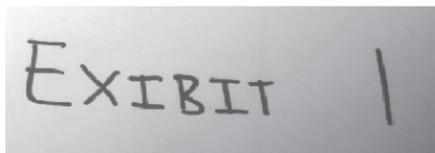

Contained in the notebook were eleven tabs, each containing exhibits Sarega would have presented.

Yet all eleven tabs misspelled the word exhibit, with Sarega spelling the word EX-IBIT. (See image at right.)

As the trial dragged on, the judge strongly admonished Sarega several times for his lack of courtroom and litigation knowledge.

"You knew that pro per is held to the same standard as a litigant with an attorney," he said.

Sarega openly pleaded with the judge to allow him leeway, but the judge once again strongly admonished him.

TABS in Sarega's notebook he brought to court with 11 instances of misspelling the word exhibit.

The most egregious error occurred when the judge asked about whether Sarega filed verified statement of facts, which the statute required to be have been included in the court documents.

"I do not see a Verified Statement of Facts," said the judge, "you must have this in the court documents."

The VSF is a statement from the plaintiff, under penalty of perjury, that everything alleged in the lawsuit is true.

Yet Sarega conveniently left the VSF out of his court documents and the judge would not let him escape unscathed for the exclusion.

Hews' counsel, Scott Talkov of the Riverside based Reid and Hellyer, remarked, "the judge tossed the case because Sarega refused to declare, under penalty of perjury, his allegations that the La Mirada Lamplighter is unqualified to run city legal notices in the City of La Mirada."

Talkov continued, "essentially, the judge ruled that if Mr. Sarega doesn't take perjury seriously, he has no business in the public courthouse."

Present, and heard yawning loudly several times during the trial, was La Mirada resident Tony Aiello, who ran with Sarega in the 2017 City Council race and lost.

Aiello, according to sources, "ran around La Mirada after the trial saying Hews won a technicality."

When questioned, Aiello denied the accusation. Hews also asked if Aiello would write about Hews' victory on his blog, Aiello did not respond.

Similar to the Vasquez case, the court documents included a declaration from former disgruntled HMG-CN employee Randy Economy.

Economy is now working for Stelian Onufrie and Sarega according to Federal Election documents.

A few years ago, Economy was arrested, charged with 3 major drug violations and pleaded guilty to methamphetamine possession.

The other two counts - under the influence of a controlled substance, and possessing a device used for unlawfully injecting or smoking a controlled substance - were dropped.

The information came to the attention of HMG-CN years after Economy began, and shortly before Economy's eventual departure.

HMG-CN contacted Sarega for comment after the case, Sarega said, "I look forward to refiling the case in the coming weeks."

"I guess the guy has nothing better to do," said Hews, "but to waste La Mirada resident's taxpayer dollars and L.A. County taxpayer dollars tying up the court system."
