MONTEBELLO OFFICIALS DELAY RECALL, ISSUE FALSE STATEMENT REGARDING LOS CERRITOS COMMUNITY NEWS

BY BRIAN HEWS

Hews Media Group-Community News has obtained two letters addressed to proponents of the movement to recall Montebello Mayor Vanessa Delgado and Mayor pro tem Jack Hadjinian that cites “deficiencies” in the submitted Petitions, the City of Montebello once again putting the brakes on the movement to remove the two unpopular City officials.

The current Petitions are part of the Notice of Intent to Recall (NIR), the first step in the recall process.

BIKE SHARING PROGRAM IN BELLFLOWER GOES FLAT

BY TAMMYE MCDUFF

Last December, the world’s largest bike share company, Ofo, announced that it was bringing their bright yellow signature bicycles to Bellflower.

Ofo is the principal station-free bike share on the planet. Founded in 2014 and based in Beijing, China, Ofo is the world’s first and largest station-free bike sharing platform, committed to providing the best short distance transportation solution while solving the “last mile” transportation problem; they have turned that last mile into a green, low-emission trip.

The first 90 days of the program went very well, but then the company met with some significant challenges over the second 90-day trial period.

Two major issues brought the pilot program to a screeching halt.

The first of these issues, states Ofo representatives, was the ‘mass privatization’ of the bicycles, otherwise known as theft and Ofo was not able to keep

LA PALMA FITNESS RUN FOR FUN ATTRACTS RUNNERS FROM ALL OVER THE COUNTRY

THE LA PALMA KIWANIS CLUB started flipping flap jacks and rolling sausages early in the morning. The group has been hosting the Run for Fun breakfast for 45 years and served over 800 people at the event.

BY TAMMYE MCDUFF

For the last 40 plus years La Palma has been host to a healthy way to kick off 4th of July Festivities with their annual La Palma's Fitness Run for Fun. It is much more than just another run, it's an opportunity to experience that small-town sense of community; to share quality time with your family, neighbors, and friends, all while focusing on health and wellness.

The event is so successful it now brings in athletes from all over the country.

The morning began with a 6:00 am registration and check in. The three competitive events – 5k run; 5K walk and 10k run started precisely at 7:30 am. La Palma Kiwanis Club started flipping flap jacks and served approximately 800 people. President of the Club Ismael ‘Smiley’ Roorbajsh told HMG, “the Club has been hosting the Fun Run breakfast for 45 years. We wanted to serve our community and this is our biggest fundraiser. We love the city of La Palma and the 5k / 10k Fun Run is a great event with much community involvement. We appreciate all that the City is doing for our residents and all the help they give us for the run.”

A Family Fun Zone was set up with crafts for the kids and the non competitive kid’s run, Yankee Doodle Dash started at 8:30 a.m. with the award ceremony commencing at 9:15 a.m.

The first person to cross the finish line was Jose Penalzoza, from Garden Grove and a member of the Cal Coast Track Club, “I came for the 5k today for this famous 4th of July run. I am really glad I did.” Penalzoza finished a 5:08 per minute mile winning at 15:55.

The Cal Coast Track Club of Southern California has members composed of youth and adult, casual, competitive, master, and elite runners and walkers. The Club offers individual coaching and group training programs for all levels on a year-round basis.

Second and third place of the 5k were Caleb VanderBaan from Yuma, Arizona with a 5:12 min/mi at 16:08 and Matthew Klein of Portland, Oregon with a 5:24 min/mile at 16:46.

Running the full 10k course was Michael Fanning of La Habra with a 5:42 min/mi at 35:25;

HERITAGE PARK VISTA COMPLETED

The Cerritos City Council recently held a ribbon cutting ceremony to commemorate the new Vista at Heritage Park. The area, which is located adjacent to the Heritage Park community center, features beautifully landscaped open space with plants, flowers, walking paths and sitting areas.

The nearly half acre space was procured in 2016 when the City purchased a privately owned residential property on the land. The acquisition allowed the City to expand Heritage Park for the community's use. The Vista will open to the public on Thursday, July 5.

"We are pleased to open this gorgeous new area to the community," remarked Cerritos Mayor Mark Pulido. "The Vista is part of the City's ongoing efforts to improve all of its parks and facilities for the benefit of the community."

ARTESIA CELEBRATES FOURTH OF JULY

BY TAMMYE MCDUFF

For the first time in City history, Artesia held an Independence Day Fun Run, which will be an annual event. The one-mile track began at City Hall, continued along Clarkdale to 183rd with a loop back to Artesia Park. Attendance was small, but satisfactory for their first year, with 25 participants of all ages. Artesia Resident Padam Thapa proudly boasted his #48 as he ran across the finish line, coming in as the first ever winner of the new annual event. Coming in a close second was Team Canales, consisting of Artesia Councilman Miguel Canales and his son.

The Annual Independence Day Pioneer Parade began traveling down Pioneer Boulevard at 9:00 a.m., with Ross Middle School Band leading the parade with patriotic tunes.

Following the musical performances were Artesia Council and the Miss Artesia Court. Several community groups were dressed in red, white and blue. Holy Family Catholic Church parishioners were dressed patriotically and Cerritos Chinese School beat drums followed by a dancing dragon.

A patrol car with the names of Los Angeles County's fallen heroes was followed by Fire engines and EMT vehicles.

The parade ended at Artesia Park where family fun continued throughout the day with Corn Hole tournaments, which is a bean bag toss game, where the bags are filled with corn; a free throw contest; Rock-Paper-Scissors tournament; tricycle races; a family obstacle course; live music provided by 'Bumptown' and of course the event culminated with a huge fireworks show that lit up the night.

The competitive events are USATF sanctioned and certified flat, fast course on asphalt streets. The course is well-marked and had multiple water stations along the route. The 5K race is 1 loop (3.1 miles) and the 10K race is 2 loops (6.2 miles).

This non-competitive run had a 1/5 mile run for 6 to 12 year olds and the 1/10 mile run for little ones ages 2 to 5 years old. Although this race was intended for kids, parents were welcome to run with their children.

up with the replacement demand of the bicycles.

During the first 90-day trial period, Ofo had a full service staff in the City and were able to keep up with the retrieval and replacement of the bikes. However, during the second 90-days, Ofo went through an entire company restructure of the Los Angeles and Bellflower areas, and that caused major issues.

City Staff met with Ofo a few weeks ago and mutually decided to pull the trial program.

City Manager, Jeff Stewart noted “Conceptually the program is interesting, we saw many people using the bikes, but I think that in the future, there will be competing companies and we will have more options to choose from.” Stewart added that at some time in the near future, City Council will reconsider the program or a similar one.

Councilman Dan Koops also added, “The bicycles seemed to be well received by constituents, and there will be more companies coming out with newer bike models and docking stations. We would like to think about more options.”

Koops did want residents to know that the City did not lose any money on the program and that the trial series was offered free of charge to Bellflower.

CAR PLUNGES INTO CERRITOS FOUNTAIN

A LATE MODEL Honda Civic reportedly ran a red light this past Monday and struck a Cadillac SUV at the corner of 183rd at Shoemaker. The force of the collision was so severe that it pushed the Cadillac into the fountain where it struck the rocks and flipped over into the water. This photo is from a Cerritos resident. The Cerritos Sheriff's station told HMG-CN that no one was seriously injured.

BELFLOWER LOOKING INTO HOLDING DIA DE LOS MUERTOS EVENT

BY TAMMYE MCDUFF

Dia de los Muertos or Day of the Dead is a Mexican holiday celebrated traditionally throughout Mexico, and by people of Mexican ancestry living in other countries, including the United States. The holiday honors deceased loved ones through altars displaying their favorite foods, drinks, personal belongings, flowers, candles, and incense. The rituals associated with the holiday have been practiced for thousands of years and have become increasingly popular in the United States; the Oscar Award-winning movie "Coco" has added to the popularity of the cultural theme.

As an opportunity of enhancing new cultural arts festivals and celebrating Bellflower's diversity, the City Council is looking into adding a celebration in 2018.

Similar events held in surrounding cities are typically implemented by third-party operators or planners, art museums or foundations. City staff found the events ranged from a simple movie night with traditional altars, to more elaborate, three-day festival events with multiple attractions, venues, activities, food, and entertainment.

Through discussion and research, the event would consist of a one day event lasting up to four hours, located in the Town Center Plaza with potential dates of Friday, November 2nd or Sunday, November 4th.

The Fiscal impact to the City would be dependent upon third party operating cost estimates, ranging from $15,000 to $70,000. City staff did state that a quality event of this nature could be implemented with a budget between $17,000 and $20,000.

Dia de los Muertos themed vendors, including food, arts and crafts, gifts and accessories would be available to the public. Entertainment, Dia de los Muertos community altar, live bands and performance groups as well as themed activities for children are among potential activities.

If the City decides to move ahead with the planning of such an event, the Parks and Recreation Department would be encouraged to seek the assistance of a third-party operator with experience implementing this type of culturally themed event.

To add your voice to the vote contact Bellflower City Hall at 562.804.1424.

NLMUSD HOSTS ACTIVE SHOOTER TRAINING SESSION AT NORWALK CAMPUS

STAFF REPORT

Local schools and agencies are staying proactive when it comes to campus and workplace incidents involving active shooters or violent intruders that are occurring with alarming frequency across the nation. And what they're learning is the important response strategy of getting out of harm's way rather than just sheltering in place.

Two dozen representatives from area and out-of-town school districts and government agencies participated in a special certification training session recently hosted by the Norwalk-La Mirada Unified School District. The two-day event at the district's Huerta School campus featured table-top classroom instruction, best methods for training employees, research on active shooters and response scenarios using prop Nerf Blaster guns and replica pistols.

"The goal is awareness and preparation through empowering staff and students with strategies that will protect them wherever they may be," said Elaine Williams, chief of the NLMUSD School Safety Department. "We want to change the victim mindset of staff and prepare them with the tools to react to a violent intruder incident and what to do until law enforcement arrives."

The June 26-27 session was presented by ALICE (Alert, Lockdown, Inform, Counter, Evacuate) Training Institute, an Ohio-based group that conducts instructor training workshops and certification from coast to coast for all types of organizations, which, in addition to school systems and colleges, includes hospitals, churches, businesses and governments.

The approach, according to Eric Spicer, a Pittsburgh area police officer who led the Norwalk session, is to teach pro-active tactics that call for option-based responses. "It's a natural reaction," he said about the tendency for people to initially be confused or freeze up. "Our mission is to save lives. We're preparing them to respond better to the situation at hand."

Spicer said the focus is teaching participants better decision-making in high-stress situations. That means learning and practicing the evacuation procedures and survival maneuvers that state and federal guidelines now call for, not just the stationary "lock-down" strategies of hiding or sheltering in place.

The problem with stationary strategies is that they can create scenarios where those involved in violent events unwittingly become soft targets or "sitting ducks" for the intruders, he said.

Those attending the session included representatives from several local agencies, including the Azusa Unified School District, Fullerton School District, Loyola High School and Hermosa Beach Police Department. Attendees also came from Brawley in Imperial County and Tulare in the Central Valley. One participant came all the way from Atlanta. In addition to Chief Williams, the NLMUSD was represented by Chris Moton, the district's director of student and family services.

Garry Creel, the Azusa USD director of child welfare and attendance, agreed that following a lock-down protocol is not enough anymore and believes that the protocols taught by ALICE are a common-sense approach. "It was very important for our district to learn new strategies to ensure our students and staff are safe," he said.

The ALICE session was the first to be hosted by NLMUSD. Participants in the training are now required to take a follow-up online exam to attain their certification by ALICE. The certification will allow the participants to serve as official trainers and implement training sessions for employees and others, including community members, in their jurisdictions or places of employment.

CERRITOS RESIDENT WHO RECEIVED OLDER AMERICANS AWARD HONORED

Cerritos resident Annette Creasy was recently recognized with the Older Americans Award from the County of Los Angeles.

A resident of Cerritos for 46 years, Creasy has volunteered at the Cerritos Library, Cerritos Senior Center and the Cerritos Sheriff's Station. In 1973, Creasy was instrumental in inspiring City leaders to establish a library for Cerritos. She requested for the original library to be dedicated to the First Ladies of the United States to honor their contributions to the country as well as to pay tribute to then-First Lady Pat Nixon, who once lived in Dairy Valley (which later became the City of Cerritos).

Creasy continues to remain active in the community, sorting boxes of donated books weekly and working at book sales hosted by Friends of the Cerritos Library, an organization of which she was a founding member.

nents to begin the toughest part of the process, gathering enough signatures to place the recall on a ballot.

Evidence shows the two letters indicate a well thought out recall delay strategy by City officials who point to obscure Elections Code violations, while implicitly acknowledging that the most important part of the NIR's, the signatures, are valid.

The two letters, which were over 450 words, was sent by Montebello City Clerk Irma Barajas, who is the wife of Montebello Councilman Art Barajas.

The only difference between the two 43-line letters was two short sentences, the remainder of the verbiage in the letters was identical.

Conspicuously absent from the two letters was the rejection of any of the 30 signatures on the NIR's.

Barajas began her letters citing California Elections Code section 11042(b) which "requires the filing of two blank copies of the (recall) Petition."

According to Barajas, "the proponents filed two different blank copies, one which was two-sided, the second which was two pages, and you (the proponents) filed only one copy."

Barajas then cited the fact that the proponents did not file an affidavit with the notices, which were published in HMG-CN's Los Cerritos Community Newspaper.

"Since the notices were filed with our newspaper, we could have sent the affidavit immediately," said HMG-CN Publisher Brian Hews, "the Los Cerritos Community Newspaper name was on the top of the notice."

The third point cited by Barajas could land the City in legal hot water.

In her statement, Barajas falsely stated that HMG-CN's Los Cerritos Community Newspaper did not qualify as a newspaper of general circulation in Montebello.

The statement suggests that Barajas' either has no experience in the area of newspaper adjudications, which would be highly unusual for someone in her position, or it is a validation of the City's recall delay strategy.

"Make no mistake, that is Delgado and Hadjinian talking through Barajas," Hews said, "they have both attacked me for publishing true stories about them, Hadjinian constantly calls this newspaper yellow journalism and Delgado frequently trolls people on social media who defend this newspaper, they are trying to delay the recall."

Barajas stated that "there is no proof that Los Cerritos Community News qualifies as a newspaper of general circulation within the city of Montebello."

"Dead wrong," said Hews, "Montebello does not have a legitimate City adjudicated paper, given that fact, California Government Code Section 6042 applies to the city of Montebello."

Code 6042 states, "Where no newspaper of general circulation is published within the jurisdiction (Montebello) of the officer, then the publication, notice by publication, or official advertising shall be given or made in a newspaper of general circulation published nearest thereto."

"We are the newspaper of general circulation published nearest thereto, we are the next closest newspaper" said Hews, "Barajas is the City Clerk, so either she is ignorant of Code 6042 or she, and certain City officials, purposely defamed my company in a public document to delay the recall. The published notices for the recall of Delgado and Hadjinian are adjudicated."

Hews immediately fired an email off to Barajas on Monday demanding a retraction.

"I have the letters you wrote to the proponents related to the recall of Vanessa Delgado and Jack Hadjinian," wrote Hews, "I am demanding you resend the letter correcting yourself on your statement concerning the adjudication of my newspaper, Los Cerritos Community News, so it is on the record."

"Montebello does not have a legitimate adjudicated newspaper therefore, under Gov't [sic] Code Section 6042, the City (and recall proponents) are allowed to use the next nearest City adjudicated newspaper which is Los Cerritos Community News."

Hews finished, "Please send the letter to the proponents by the end of this week and copy me, sending me both the letter and proof of mailings."

Barajas finished her letter saying that the proponents must basically start again, "these numerous and substantial deficiencies cannot be disregarded. You are obligated to make these corrections and republish (the NIR) and refile a corrected Petition.

A Montebello resident who did not want to be identified told HMG-CN, "The only substantial deficiency is Barajas' statement is that Los Cerritos Community News cannot run notices in Montebello. The others, as Barajas said herself, could have been disregarded. Barajas had to throw in the newspaper statement because her other deficiencies were bogus."

FORMER GAHR SOFTBALL SLUGGER KUMIYAMA RECOVERS FROM HIGH SCHOOL INJURY IN TYPICAL FASHION

BY LOREN KOPFF
@LORENKOPFF ON TWITTER

Alyssa Kumiyama grew up dreaming about playing college softball and more specifically, playing in the Southeastern Conference, regarded as one of the best in the NCAA. Of course, education comes first for the former Gahr High standout and she wanted to go to a great school for that and softball.

But as Kumiyama was sliding into second base against La Mirada High in the championship game of the La Mirada Showcase on Apr. 30, 2017, her cleat got stuck in the dirt, went down to the ground and tore her right ACL. She had surgery on May 1 and would miss the final eight games of the season. Gahr won the first 26 games her senior season before falling to St. Lucy's High in the second round of the CIF-Southern Section playoffs for the lone loss of that campaign. Her dreams for a banner freshman season in college were slightly derailed. Or so she thought.

"Once it happened, I was like, 'oh shoot, I'm leaving here in a couple of months to go play in the SEC,'" Kumiyama remembered saying. "But I knew they had great trainers over there, so I knew they could get me back before [the] season [started]. And, I had already talked to our coach and she told us about all the rehab facilities and all the great things that they were going to do to hopefully get me there by spring.

"I was a little worried because shoot, I got this scholarship and now I'm not going to be able to use it for a year," she continued. "So, it was kind of like stressful a little bit, but as soon as I got here and I started working out with our trainers, it was a little bit better and I was like, 'okay, I will be ready for the spring.'"

"So close to graduating," recalled Chris Kumiyama, Alyssa's father on his first reaction to seeing her go down with the injury. "Just to recover and if she'll make it back or if they're going to have to redshirt her and all that stuff going in... who's going to call the coach and tell her? Let's wait until after we get back from the doctor before we say anything. There's just a lot of apprehension right after it happened."

To say that Kumiyama bounced back to have the freshman season she dreamed of is an understatement. Not only was she ready for opening day and played in nearly all the games, but she did so in typical fashion that had made her one of the most feared hitters in the history of the Gahr program. Kumiyama played in 58 of the 66 games for the Gamecocks, starting 36 of them and batted .235. While the average may seem a bit down, consider this: 15 of her 28 hits went for extra bases, including 10 home runs, which was tied for second on the team. She also drove in 38 runs, which was fourth best on the team.

But when it came time for her first collegiate game, which happened to be the second South Carolina game, Kumiyama did what she does the best-hit a home run. It came on Feb. 9 against Hofstra University with two outs in the bottom of the sixth inning. The blast gave South Carolina some insurance as it went on for a 4-2 victory. She said the home run was 'eye-opening'.

"I was kind of nervous," Kumiyama said. "It was my first college game and the pitcher we had faced was known for [pitching] inside. For those who know me, I'm a great outside hitter, and I can hit inside as well. She was faster; I really hadn't seen that fast of pitching in a while. But I knew that if I got the job done, and do what I was supposed to, then I couldn't go home upset.

"People tell me the best home runs are the ones you don't remember," she continued. "And that is one that I really do not remember."

"She had just got cleared that week 100 percent," Chris Kumiyama said. "But she wasn't 100 percent mentally and physically-wise. I've watched her play and I know where she should be."

Kumiyama, who is majoring in exercise science, which is like physical therapy, batted anywhere from .494 to .564 in her four seasons at Gahr, which ranked either first or second in hitting each season. As a freshman at Gahr, she belted 11 home runs, which was tied for first, and was in the top three in hits (36) and runs batted in (35) that season.

When she graduated, she held the school career record for the highest batting average (.483), hits (136), home runs (29) and RBI (114). Kumiyama has also been the HMG-Community News Player of the Year three times, including sharing that honor with Gahr teammate Celeste Gonzalez as a freshman.

Kumiyama said that when it came to choosing her college institution, she wanted to make sure that after softball, she wanted to be in the best spot possible to succeed in life.

"South Carolina for me was definitely one of those schools where I was like, 'okay, I will definitely succeed here,'" she said.

Unable to play in the fall, Kumiyama still found herself in the dugout doing rehab in between innings while head coach Beverly Smith would have little conversations with the team. Kumiyama would also keep track of the pitch count and relaying other information to the players. As the regular season grew closer, she knew she wasn't going to be in the starting lineup or the first to play as much as she wanted to because she missed playing in the fall.

The Kumiyama family moved to South Carolina shortly after Alyssa's graduation but had been building their house months before that. Chris recalls how tough it was once they got settled into their new house in Lexington, SC, less than 25 minutes from the Columbia campus. But then to see their daughter still be able to help out in other ways other than playing was a huge relief.

"I think that was great for her and it was great for us as a family," he said. "It's hard when your kid is not playing, especially when you move and you wait six years to watch her play [in college]. To be part of the dugout...if she wasn't cleared yet during the fall season, we still didn't get the 100 percent if she was going to play during the spring. So, for our concern, is she going to redshirt? Is she not? Nobody really knew until the last week before she was ready."

But when she would finally get her chance, she knew she would have to step up and do her job, even if it meant getting a sacrifice fly or putting down a bunt here or there.

"Just moving runners and scoring runs was where I kind of envisioned for myself and making sure that I got my job done when I was given the opportunity," Kumiyama said. "But I wasn't really expecting to be in the lineup at first."

"I guess the motivation was [hearing], 'we need you, we need your bat in the lineup, you're going to be a great asset to the team,'" Kumiyama later recalled of the fall and winter months. "But my teammates were pushing me every day. It was really my teammates that helped me out a lot and helped me through the tough times."

FORMER GAHR HIGH standout Alyssa Kumiyama, who now attends the University of South Carolina, connects on one of her 28 hits this past season. Kumiyama also smashed 10 home runs as a freshman for the Gamecocks.

The 10 home runs Kumiyama hit this past season currently ranks tied for fifth place for a single season at South Carolina. The school record is 33, set by Alaynie Page (2013-2016) and McKenna Hughes (2004-2007). At the rate she is going, Kumiyama would not only break the record, but smash it.

"There were some times where I was like, 'I cannot get the ball to leave the yard' or 'I cannot get a hit,'" Kumiyama remembers. "But I knew I was going to go in there and we have this thing-do damage. For me, if I was going to go in the box thinking I'm going to do damage, I knew home runs were going to happen.

"Home runs are going to come and yeah, I love home runs," Kumiyama continued. "It's one of the best things to get to jog it out and seeing your teammates at home plate. But it's the little things that get the job done, moving runners, scoring runs on a sac fly. I love hitting home runs; don't get me wrong. But it's the little things that build champions."

The Gamecocks, who began the season 20-1 and 28-4, finished 49-17 overall, 15-9 in the tough SEC and finished in third place, five games behind first place University of Florida. South Carolina was seeded ninth when the field of 64 brackets were released and hosted a regional in which it won three straight games in the loser's bracket. The Gamecocks would then travel to Tempe, AZ where they fell to eighth-seeded Arizona State University twice in the Super Regionals.

"SEC softball...really, you have to show up every game," Kumiyama said. "It doesn't matter if the team you're playing is in last place. It doesn't matter. They're good enough to win on any given day. I think that's what sets the SEC apart. You have to play your 'A' game every single day. And if you're not, then you're going to get beat. I think the SEC sets the standard of hard work, determination and pride."

Kumiyama listed Texas A&M as her worst SEC location to face on the road because the crowd was 'pretty rough', according to her. She said the student body, called the Sugar Daddies, sit behind home plate and they know everyone by name and are not afraid to heckle opposing players when they're in the box or on the field or walking up to the gate. On the other hand, her favorite road venue to visit in the conference was the University of Missouri.

Kumiyama says she is at 100 percent now but thinks her knee could get a little stronger. And if she has even the same, or a better sophomore campaign, then look for the Gamecocks, whose 49 victories were the most since 1999, to do bigger and better things.

"It was everything that I dreamed and hoped, and it was definitely harder than I thought it was going to be," Kumiyama said of the season. "But it's just the freshman experiencing; the total eye-opening. And overall, it was a great experience to see what the SEC is all about and see all the great competition we get to face. It's just amazing; I just can't believe it's happening."
