

SEVERAL CANDIDATES PULL PAPERS TO RUN FOR CERRITOS CITY COUNCIL

By Brian Hews

Former Mayor Grace
Hu pulled papers

Four candidates travelled down to Cerritos City Hall this past week and "pulled papers" to run for Cerritos City Council in March 2017.

Pulling papers is the first step of the election process; the candidates now need to officially file with Cerritos City

Clerk Vida Barone by mid January.

Grace Hu, Bruce Barrows, Chong Vo, and Sam Sultan Ahmad all pulled papers, but none have officially filed.

The filing began December 19 with the cut off date of January 13.

Current Cerritos Mayor George Ray has told HMG-CN that he will not run for reelection. But other sources are telling HMG-CN that, "certain people are placing pressure on Ray to run again, so we don't know if he will run again or not."

In the case of Ray not running, two seats will be open, Ray's and termed out Councilwoman Carol Chen.

Hu and Barrows are both former Council members and Mayors of Cerritos, while Chong Vo, who ran in 2015 placed sixth out of nine candidates.

Sam Sultan Ahmad placed eighth.

Three seats were up for grabs in 2015 with Mark Pulido garnering the most votes at 3,417; Jim Edwards received 3,053 votes, Naresh Solanki received 2,533 votes.

Frank Yokoyama lost by 96 votes and received 2,472 votes; Grace Hu: 2,437 votes, Chong Vo 1,732 votes; Sophia Tse 1,597 votes; Sam Sultan Ahmad: 511 votes; and Manny Maninder Sethi: 210 votes.

Downey Council Rescinds Vote, Removes Saab as Mayor pro tem, Ashton Assumes Post

By Tammye McDuff

On December 13th Downey City Council made their selections for Mayor [Fernando Vasquez] and Mayor Pro Tem [Alex Saab] for 2017. This decision was voted on with no public comments or discussions. As the Council has done in the past, there is a set rotation of council members, giving each person a turn as mayor pro tem and as mayor. This has been a matter of routine, but not mandated in the City Charter.

Councilman Sean Ashton was passed over for his 'turn' as Mayor Pro Tem, he felt this was a violation of the Brown Act and filed suit. Since that time City Hall has received 72 letters demanding the new positions of Mayor and Mayor Pro Tem be rescinded. At their last meeting for 2016 the item was set before the Council once again.

Many residents from the cities of Downey and Bellflower were in attendance. One Downey residents says she was heartbroken that the natural order of the rotating schedule was not adhered to. Resident Art Montoya added, "We were left in shock as we watched what happened. The interaction that I have had with Mr. Ashton has always been positive and helpful. He holds multiple town hall meetings, is very personable and easy to connect with. He deserves the change to prove himself as Mayor Pro Tem."

One visiting Bellflower resident called the actions of Downey Council shady," This stinks of old fashioned back

USPS INTRODUCES NEW SKYWRITING 'LOVE' STAMP

Skywriting pilot replicating stamp image linked to Lindbergh.

Staff Report

CHINO, CA — The U.S. Postal Service's new Love Skywriting Forever stamp image will be replicated by a skywriting pilot linked to iconic aviator Charles Lindbergh at noon on January 7 following the 10 a.m. PT First-Day-of-Issue ceremony that takes place at the Planes of Fame Air Museum in Chino, CA.

"The Postal Service issued its first Love stamp in 1973, and over the years, these stamps have dressed up billions of birthday greetings, wedding invitations, birth announcements, and, of course, Valentine's Day cards and letters," said U.S. Postal Service Chief Operating Officer and Executive Vice President David Williams. "From the moment they're spotted on an envelope, these miniature works of art foretell good news. And with this particular stamp, we can really say, once and for all, that 'love is in the air' — and in the mail."

Scheduled to join Williams at the ceremony are Operation Gratitude Vice President and Chief Development Officer Chris Clark; Skytypers President Stephen Stinis and Planes of Fame Air Museum aviation historian and Air Museum moderator Kevin Thompson. Skytypers CEO and Squadron Commander Greg Stinis will fly the skywriting demonstration and be available for media interviews when he lands at 1 p.m. PT.

The stamp art depicts the word "Love" written in white cursive script against a blue sky studded with wispy clouds. The edges of the letters are just beginning to blur into the surrounding sky. Underlining the word is a decorative swirl of smoke that emphasizes the message. A small, stylized plane, dwarfed by the giant letters, completes the end of the swirl, with smoke trailing from its tail.

This new issuance is a cheerful and romantic continuation of the U.S. Postal Service tradition of creating stamps that celebrate love. The Love Skywriting stamp will add a sweet, romantic touch to letters and cards, not only on Valentine's Day, but all year round.

The Lost Art of Skywriting

Skywriting had its heyday as an advertising medium from the 1920s to the 1950s, promoting everything from soft drinks to bikinis. Messages are created by a small airplane that emits vaporized fluid from its exhaust system to form letters in the air. Still used occasionally for advertising slogans, skywriting more commonly broadcasts romantic — and very public — declarations of love.

"I think it's safe to say more people have walked on the moon than are professional skywriters today," said Greg Stinis, who

Amapola Market Tamale 'Masa Mess' Continues

By Tammye McDuff

A favorite staple on many Sothern California Christmas tables are homemade tamales. Amapola Market is a longtime family-owned market in Downey and has provided the ingredients for this time honored family tradition of for years. However, Downey police had to be called to the market on Christmas Day when angry customers began showing up and complaining that the store's masa made their tamales inedible.

Now touted as the "masa mess" long lines of customers went around the block as they stood in line with receipts and bad tamales.

Apparently Amapola sold masa that was below the quality that customers were accustomed to. The bad masa resulted in the tamales not cooking properly. A preliminary investigation determined that the defective masa was sold between December 23rd and December 24th and stems from a defective corn bought from a national provider, of which the store has been a customer of for over 15 years. The Los Angeles County Department of Public Health was investigating claims tamales made with the masa had made some people sick.

The store eventually had to close and lock its doors Tuesday after apparently running out of cash due to the numerous refunds. On Wednesday, a long line of people stood outside the store again waiting for refunds.

Chief Financial Officer Carlos Galvan, whose family owns the chain of markets, acknowledged the bad masa was responsible for the ruined tamales and said refunds, would be given to anyone who purchased the product at their store, even if they didn’t have a receipt.

Amapola reopened Wednesday to long lines of people still trying to get a refund.

Spokesman Luis Alvarado was also outside the market and told reporters the store would again be giving refunds, but customers now needed to show a receipt proving they purchased the masa at the store for a ‘no questions asked’ refund. The store would also consider claims from customers who had additional costs for other ingredients ruined by the masa.

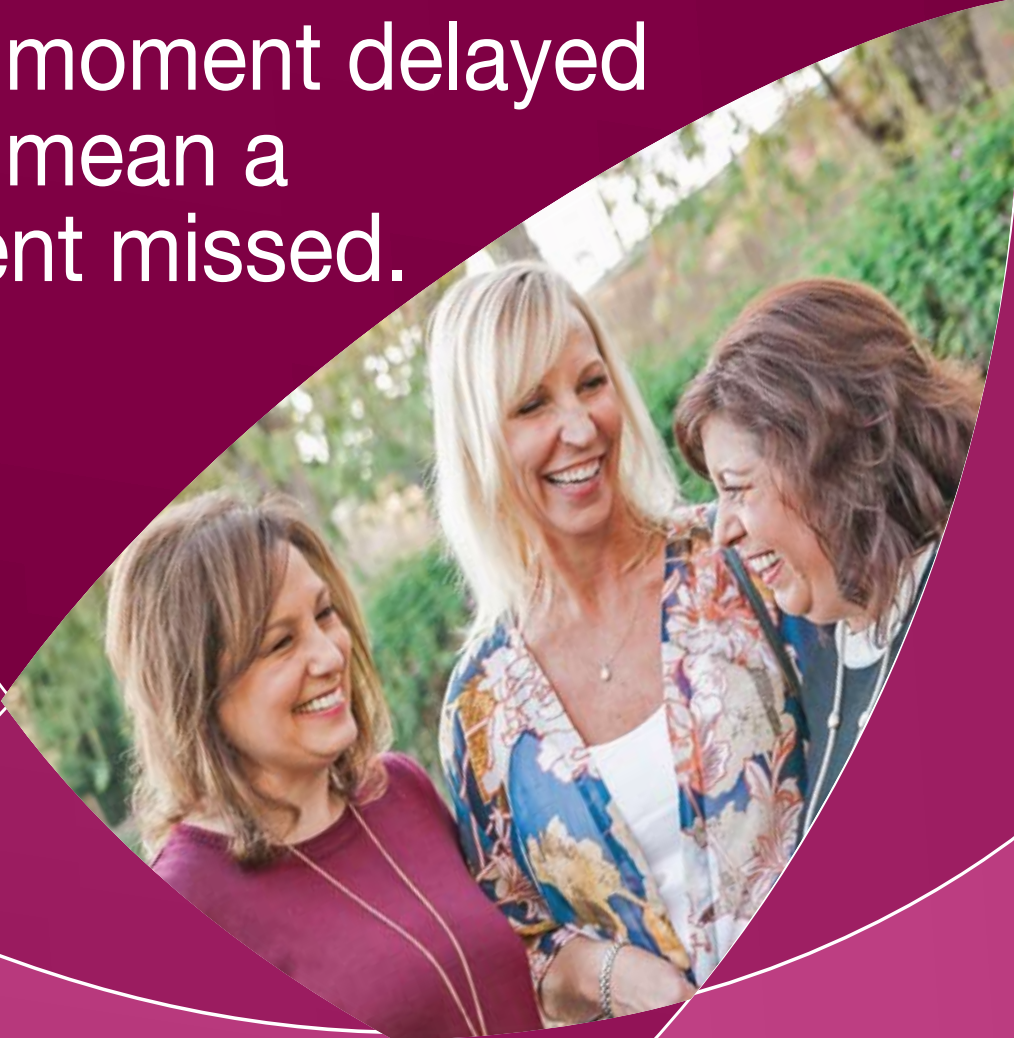

Those who purchased their masa on a different date, or who didn’t have a receipt, can fill out a claim that will be investigated by the store. The claims can be filled out online and there is no expiration date on getting a refund.

Alvarado was hired specifically to handle the masa mess, "For those people who didn't have a receipt, or any kind of proof, we have a separate line where we're giving them a claim form to fill out so we can start the investigation," Alvarado said. For every 10 pounds of masa, customers with a receipt also received an extra $20 for ingredients they bought to make their tamales.

“Our first priority is to make sure that we have all our customers refunded for the trouble that they went through,” Galvan said. The Market has been in the community for 55 years, “this is the first time something like this has ever happened at the market.”

A statement was posted on the Amapola’s Facebook page and website stating that they pride themselves on serving the best quality masa and at no point did they encounter evidence to believe there are health risks and a formal investigation is underway.

What to Do When Holiday Good Cheer Means Overindulgence in Alcohol for Some

The holidays are known as a time of glad tidings and good cheer. But for some people, they’re also an excuse to overindulge in alcohol.

For family members of people suffering from alcohol addiction, the holidays pose a particular dilemma: How do you preserve the loving, joyous spirit of the season while making sure Uncle Bob isn’t distracted by the rum-spiked eggnog at your holiday party? Or that Aunt Mary doesn’t get sidetracked from her 12-step recovery program while you’re filling your other guests’ glasses with celebratory champagne at New Year’s?

“The first and most important thing you need to do is to acknowledge the elephant in the room,” says Stuart Finkelstein, MD, an internal medicine and addiction specialist at Lakewood Regional Medical Center in Lakewood, Calif. “Talk openly with your family and the person with the alcohol abuse problem about the problem. Don’t keep secrets.”

And don’t wait until the guests have arrived and the presents are being unwrapped before addressing the issue, adds Dr. Finkelstein.

“Communicate openly with your loved one and your other family members before the holidays have even begun,” he says. “Decide ahead of time what your response will be to any drunken behavior by them, and have a plan. Set clear limits so they know that that kind of behavior during family time – not just at the holidays but at any other time of the year – is unacceptable.”

Above all, Dr. Finkelstein explains, “let them know that their family loves them and only wants to help them get better. Make it clear that they are ‘sick,’ not ‘bad.’”

And if they get angry at you or deny that they have a problem? “Communicate ‘stern’ love. Tell them you care so much that you want to help them get well, rather than support them in destroying themselves. Offer to meet with them before the holidays or the family event to discuss how their problem affects you, and to help them find treatment. And remember – ‘invite’ them to get help. Pushing them or acting as if you’re trying to control them usually only makes things worse.”

Because a family member has an alcohol abuse problem doesn’t mean you or your other guests have to abstain from drinking – responsibly, of course – at holiday gatherings. “You shouldn’t feel bad about serving alcohol,” says Dr. Finkelstein. “Most people with an alcohol abuse problem are focused on their own recovery. They don’t expect or necessarily want the rest of the world to give up drinking along with them.”

At the same time, it’s important to be a responsible host. Some people can get caught up in the spirit of the party and have a hard time turning down a drink when it’s offered to them. “As a host, don’t push too hard,” he adds.

Dr. Finkelstein has some simple advice for anyone at a holiday event who feels they’re being pressured by friends or family members to drink more than they should: “Don’t have an empty glass in your hand. Fill it up with soda or a non-alcoholic mixer and drop a lime in it. People won’t push you if they see your glass is full.”

If you or someone you love needs help with a substance abuse problem during the holidays or at any other time of the year, Lakewood Regional Medical Center is here to help. For a physician referral to an Addiction Medicine Specialist please call 800-813-4345 began skywriting more than 50 years ago while working for this father, Andy Stinis, Wwho started the company in 1932, and whose plane hangs in the Smithsonian National Air and Space Museum.

The Lindbergh Connection

“My dad was friends with Charles Lindbergh and helped him push the Spirit of St. Louis onto the runway for his historic 1927 New York to Paris solo flight. Like Lindbergh, my father also flew mail for the Post Office Department. He flew mail for 20 years in his amphibious Mallard aircraft to Walker’s Cay in the Bahamas.”

The Five Square Mile Palette in the Sky

On January 7th after Stinis takes off from the Chino Airport in his Grumman Tiger (AA5-B), his search to find a five square mile palette in the sky will take a half hour as he searches for a turbulence-free altitude to avoid distorting the writing. The sky paint will be an environmentally safe paraffin-based liquid that is injected into the exhaust manifold before passing through the plane’s 3-inch diameter exhaust pipe to mushroom to a 60 ft. diameter vapor.

To replicate the stamp image the “L” in Love will be 6,000 ft. tall with the remaining letters at 2,000 ft. tall each. To be legible from the ground from Stinis’ perspective, he will have to write upside-down and backwards. His “pen” will scribe between 135 mph and near stall speed as he makes the tight curly elements in the letters. The skywriting will take about 10 minutes to complete. He will not have enough liquid to create the swirl below the word as depicted on the stamp image. Once completed the word should be visible for 20 miles.

“I’ve created more than 2,000 skywritings in 50 years, and this one will be one of most challenging because the letter “L” is three times the size of the others and in script. I usually create block letters, so the timing and visual cues and maneuvers are new. Time is against me. Once I start I can’t stop writing or the whole message will blow away.”

Louise Fili of New York City designed the stamp illustrated by Jessica Hische of San Francisco. Derry Noyesof Washington, DC, was the art director. The Love Skywriting stamp is being issued as a Forever Stamp. This Forever Stamp will always be equal to the current First-Class Mail 1-ounce price.

SOROPTIMISTS HOLD SUCCESSFUL CAREER MENTORING PROGRAM FOR HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS

By Diana Needham

On November 17, 2016, Soroptimist International of Artesia-Cerritos held a very successful all- day career mentoring conference for 75 local high school girls, including ten members of the Girls’ Advisory Committee from last year’s half-day conference.

The Club received extensive support from ABC Unified School District in planning and implementing the program.

Chaired by Soroptimist members Betty Hyatt, Amy Dominguez, and Lou Kaku, the conference was part of a worldwide Soroptimist program for girls entitled “Dream It Be It”.

The conference began with comments and introductions by Soroptimist President Pat Law and Co-Chair Betty Hyatt. Dr. Rhonda Buss, Director of Secondary Schools, then shared her personal story of reaching for her dreams, and how along her road of discovery, her dream changed and evolved, leading her to her current career.

Next, the girls heard guest speakers, Patsy Rodriguez, Soroptimist’s Live Your Dream 2016 award recipient, and Isamarc Perez, an Artesia High graduate; tell their stories of overcoming obstacles

BOYS BASKETBALL: CERRITOS RALLY FALLS SHORT AGAINST DOWNEY AS DONS REMAIN WINLESS AT STAPLES CENTER

By Loren Kopff
@LorenKopff on Twitter

LOS ANGELES-For five straight seasons, the Cerritos and Downey High boys basketball teams have met under the bright lights of Staples Center in a non league contest. And each time, the result has been the same, which hasn’t fared well for Cerritos.

The Dons found themselves down by as many as 16 points early in the second half, rallied to take a brief lead in the fourth quarter, then saw it go away in the final seconds when Downey’s Justin Reyes hit a key basket with 22.2 seconds left as the Vikings came away with a 47-44 win last Friday afternoon. The game was a far cry from the 67-30 Downey win over Cerritos just one week prior in the North Orange County Championships. But this time, it was Reyes who was dominant in the fourth quarter, scoring seven of his team’s 12 points in the final stanza.

“He made a big shot; a really good shot,” said Cerritos co-head coach Kevin Enomoto. “They have some good shooters. I think it was [junior] Brandon [de Groot] guarding him and he had his hand in his face and he still knocked down that shot. The way Brandon played defense on him was perfect. It’s exactly how we want to play defense.”

After falling behind 5-0 within the first 48 seconds, the Dons tied the game courtesy of junior Jyvonnte Moore who scored all five points. The Vikings would then go on an 8-0 run before a three-pointer from senior Jason Fernandez closed out the first quarter scoring.

Downey dominated the second quarter, scoring the final seven points of the half to lead 26-13 at the break. Downey’s Aaron Garcia then scored the first three points of the third quarter before Cerritos began to chip away at its deficit.

Junior Destin Flucas was a big part of that rally, scoring nine points and grabbing three rebounds in the third quarter alone. He scored consecutive baskets in a span of 49 seconds, the first after getting an offensive rebound, as the Dons trailed 33-24 with 4:18 left in the third quarter. Cerritos would finish the final 3:20 of the stanza on an 8-0 run to trail by three points heading into the fourth.

Garcia would sink a pair of free throws to extend Downey’s lead to 38-32 with 5:58 left in the game. But Cerritos had another run and after de Groot scored off a pass from junior Jason Anigbo, he scored on his only steal with just over four minutes remaining to put the Dons in front for the first time, 39-38.

“They started playing defense,” Enomoto said of the second half. “They started battling and they started getting rebounds. We were giving up a lot of offensive boards and that doesn’t help.”

Less than half a minute later, junior Byron Sur hit two free throws to make it a 41-39 contest. After Reyes scored on one of 18 Cerritos turnovers to put the Vikings ahead at 43-41, Flucas tied the contest with 89 seconds remaining in the game. But with 1:10 remaining, a Reyes basket proved to be the eventual game-winner.

Flucas and Moore each scored 13 points to lead the Dons with Flucas grabbing seven rebounds and Moore another five boards. Sur was also solid with half a dozen points and just as many rebounds.

“Both players play very hard,” Enomoto said of Flucas and Moore. “They’re kind of like our engine that gets us going, getting those rebounds. They’re able to get rebounds from other guys to help other guys get open. Byron is another player who gets us going and gets our offense going. If he’s playing well, then the rest of our players are playing well.”

Of the five games that Cerritos has played at Staples Center, and always falling on a day in which the Los Angeles Clippers are at home later in the night, this was closest in terms of margin of defeat by the Dons. Last season, Downey won by eight points and the season before, it was a 10-point Downey win. In addition, each school sold close to $8,000 in tickets for the Clippers game against the Dallas Mavericks prior to last Friday’s game. Yet to be determined will be if Cerritos comes back to downtown Los Angeles next season.

“Oh, it’s a great opportunity,” Enomoto said. “It’s a great opportunity for the kids and the families that get to come watch them play inside this nice arena. We really wanted to get them today.”

Cerritos began action in the Mt. Carmel Tournament in San Diego with a 76-55 win over Mira Mesa High this past Tuesday and met Downey the next night. The win over the Marauders was just the third for the Dons in the first 12 games this season. Cerritos will begin Suburban League action on Jan. 6 at Artesia High.

“We’ve been playing some pretty good teams, especially in the last tournament,” Enomoto said. “But it’s a process for us. We’re kind of a young team; no starters returning from last year. So, our goal this year was not to worry about wins and losses, but more as far as are we playing the right way? We have to make sure we’re playing the right way offensively and defensively. That’s what we’re doing. I think we’re in the right direction.”

ORANGE HOLIDAY CLASSIC

VALLEY CHRISTIAN PUT IN A BIG HOLE EARLY, LOSES BADLY TO LA MIRADA IN REMATCH AFFAIR

By Loren Kopff
@LorenKopff on Twitter

FULLERTON-For the second straight season, the Valley Christian High boys basketball team hooked up with La Mirada High in the Orange Holiday Classic. But this season’s game was a far cry from last season’s first round game that featured a combined 14 seniors out of 30 players between the two teams.

La Mirada won last season’s affair 65-62 on a buzzer-beating three-pointer from Ian Carter. There would be no dramatics this time around as the Matadores scored the first 13 points of the game and cruised to an 83-55 win this past Tuesday night at Hope International University.

“You’re just excited about the chance to compete and play whoever is in front of you,” said V.C. head coach Bryan Branderhorst of facing La Mirada again. “So we don’t worry about that a lot. We try to prepare the same way for everybody. It wasn’t good enough today.”

V.C. didn’t score until the 4:09 mark of the first quarter when senior Jalen Hines scored off a pass from junior Jacob Green. La Mirada went up 20-4 before the Crusaders scored the last seven points of the quarter.

After a free throw from senior Johnny Johnson early in the second quarter, the Matadores reeled off eight straight points to open up a 30-12 advantage with 5:20 remaining in the first half. The Crusaders, who trailed by 20 points at halftime, shot five of 17 from the field in the second quarter and only scored consecutive baskets once in the half. Hines came off the bench to score eight points in the half on four of six shooting.

“To use a boxing analogy, they had us on our heels and up against the ropes early,” Branderhorst said. “They kept hitting and we had a hard time getting back. We were defensive all night; they were the aggressors and they took it to us. They shot the ball really well, especially early, and put us in that hole.”

V.C. was still unable to get any momentum going in the third quarter, nearly trading basket for basket and was able to get its deficit under 20 points with 3:07 remaining in the third quarter following consecutive baskets from Green and freshman Gorden Boykins.

Hines would lead the Crusaders with a season-high 14 points while Green and senior Aaron Purnell added 12 and 11 points respectively. Green also had five steals but as a team, V.C. grabbed just 20 rebounds.

“Just compete and have a lot of pride,” Branderhorst said of his halftime speech to his team. “Keep swinging and going at people. I thought Jacob Green was good all game. He was very aggressive doing that. It was good to see Jalen Hines go a little bit too. He’s been awfully rusty and it was good to see him get going a little bit.”

The Crusaders would bounce back the next night to knock off Great Oak High 54-48 as Purnell led the way with 16 points followed by Johnson’s 14 points. The win over Great Oak improved V.C.’s record to 8-5 and considering all that the Crusaders have gone through thus far, the record isn’t too bad. Two losses have been by less than 10 points with another loss by 10 points. The loss to La Mirada was the worst this season. In addition, three players missed the first six games because of their obligations to the football team and Branderhorst is still waiting for junior transfer Julio Martinez to become eligible.

“It’s been kind of up and down,” Branderhorst said. “It’s just been a transition all the time as far as what our roster is and who we have and what position guys play because we’ve waited for some bodies. It’s a work in progress. One day you feel pretty good about it and one day you can’t figure anything else out. Today was one of those days.”

The Crusaders finished the tournament on Dec. 29 and will host Villa Park High on Tuesday. The Olympic League opener will be two days later against Heritage Christian High.

NEWS AND NOTES FROM PRESS ROW

LEAGUE PLAY TO BEGIN LATE NEXT WEEK AS TOURNAMENTS WRAP UP

By Loren Kopff
@LorenKopff on Twitter

The area basketball and soccer teams have spent the majority of December playing in two or three preseason tournaments to prepare themselves for what will begin the end of next week-league action. Now that the new calendar year is upon us, here’s a brief look at how all of the schools are doing in the aforementioned sports.

ARTESIA

The boys basketball team will enter Suburban League action with a solid 9-5 mark and winners of its last three games, including a 61-58 triumph over Ganesha

High last Thursday. The Pioneers are one win away from matching last season’s total and has had a winning non league schedule in four straight seasons. The girls basketball team last played on Dec. 21 and fell to Buena Park 44-38. At 5-5, the Pioneers are the only league school that does not have a losing record. The five wins are one more than the team had all of last season. Artesia visited Newport Harbor High on Dec. 29 and will travel to Ganesha on Tuesday night. Both basketball teams will then host Cerritos High on Friday.

The boys soccer team came up with an uncontested 8-0 win over the California Military Institute for its fourth straight win this past Wednesday to move to 5-7-0. During that time, the Pioneers have outscored their opponents 18-1. Artesia will host Garey High on Monday before visiting Cerritos on Friday. The girls soccer team has been off since Dec. 20 when it blanked Paramount High 2-0. The Pioneers will bring a 4-4-2 record into their league opener against Cerritos on Friday.

CERRITOS

After narrowly falling to Downey High 47-44 at Staples Center last Friday afternoon, the Dons have won the first two games of the Mt. Carmel Tournament and have won three of their last four games. Cerritos knocked off Mira Mesa high 76-

55 this past Tuesday before getting revenge on Downey, 65-63, this past Wednesday. Cerritos (4-9) faced West Torrance in a semifinal game on Dec. 29. And will conclude the tournament tonight.

The girls basketball team recorded one of its biggest routs in years when it blasted Hawthorne High 85-9 this past Tuesday morning in the Larry Doyle/ Dan Wiley Orange County Tournament of Champions. The Lady Dons, who began the tournament with a 53-36 loss to Warren High the day before, scored the first 39 points of the game and led Hawthorne 59-1 at the break. All but one player scored as senior Cailey Vitug and door deals and private handshakes about who can and cannot be mayor or pro tem. I can't call you honorable because of possible funny business going on behind the scenes. It appears that some shenanigans have gone on behind closed doors. There should be an iron clad rule on rotation where common sense dictates each councilmember be treated fairly. No member should hold the high seat twice, when not everyone has had their opportunity on rotation." He went on to say the decision reeked of collusion and incompetence with the City Council being a septic tank ... where the big chunks rise to the top.

Kimberly Hayes is a long time Downey resident and has known the Ashton family for years, "I have known the Ashton's years, our children have gone to school together. Sean is a stand up guy and is always there to lend a hand. I am upset that not only does it appear this Council passed him over, but by doing so you have passed over all those residents in District Two." Hayes continued stating by bouncing the 'Mayorship' between two people, is playing the 'good old boys club' game.

"Rarely do politically bodies have the opportunity for a second chance," says Bryan Hayman, resident from District One, "This council has the chance to do the right thing. Just the past year we had the scandal of Councilman Marquez and here is the beginning of yet another one. But was shocked when I read that this action had taken place denying Mr. Ashton a chance at Mayor Pro Tem."

Hayman goes on to say that it was more than petty politics, but rather political cunning by a former Councilman that continues to pull the strings in this city and with each of the council members. Hayman noted an ad that was taken out in the Downey Patriot. This ad had the City Seal in the middle and was surrounded with business cards from all four of Council members except for Ashton's. "As I understood it Mr. Ashton could not afford to have his business card in placed in the ad, so in his place a card from a former councilman was placed! The gall of this individual is appalling."

Finally after public discussion was finished, a motion was made by Mayor Fernando Vasquez to resend the nomination of Alex Saab as Mayor Pro Tem. Saab said "I hope that everyone was able to view the video from the December 13th meeting. Everyone was given the opportunity to make motions or discuss but no one brought it up. I do take great offense when someone says that we have violated the Brown Act. There was no collusion or violation. There has been a concern with the lack of confidence in Mr. Ashton's ability to understand the complexities of city hall. No one doubts his commitment to the city. I am going to make the motion that Ashton be Pro Tem and hope that he does a good job. We want to move forward into 2017. We all voted to do what was best for our residents."

Ashton thanked Saab for his comments and clarified that he did not have opposition with being passed over. When he began question the actions taken was when former Mayor and Council Mario Guerra had placed a public comment on Facebook applauding the nomination of Saab and Vasquez, stating:

"I am also excited to see the first vote by our new council working together was to elect Fernando Vasquez as our new Mayor and Alex Saab as our Mayor Pro Tem. Alex did an amazing job as Mayor this year and our city is best served with those who commit and honor their office. This is great news for Downey. We are in great hands and our future is bright. Congrats are warranted to our great City of Downey."

Ashton explained when two people talk about anything that could be on the Council agenda, that is not a violation, however when a third person is involved it becomes a violation, constituting a majority of Council. He concluded by stating that if the Council questioned his abilities then, he was open to discussing the issue. Sean Ashton was nominated as Mayor Pro Tem with a unanimous vote.

junior Kalea Trias each scored 12 points while sophomore Lindsay Fujihiro and junior Allyson Hayakawa pitched in with 11 and 10 points respectively. Vitug also had six steals in the first quarter alone and had nine in the game while senior Ifeoma Okoli grabbed 10 rebounds in the first and third quarters combined.

The Lady Dons (5-7) would knock off Marina High 61-28 this past Wednesday to move on to the consolation championship game against Edison High on Dec. 29.

The boys soccer team participated in the Marina Tournament and was blanked by Kennedy High 1-0 this past Wednesday while the girls soccer team has been idle since winning its group of the Best in the West Tournament on Dec. 17. The Lady Dons outscored their four tournament foes 6-2 and end their preseason slate at 7-1-1.

GAHR

One of the best team in the area record-wise is in north San Diego County for the popular Under Armour Torrey Pines Holiday Classic. The Gladiators defeated Wasilla (Alaska) High 76-52 this past Tuesday in the American Division and Iolani (Hawai'i) High 45-39 this past Wednesday. Gahr (8-5) faced St. Joseph Notre Dame High out of Alameda on Dec. 29 in the semifinals. After finishing in the tournament tonight, the Gladiators will face Santa Monica High on Jan. 7 in the Westchester Challenge.

The girls basketball team went 2-2 in the Gahr Christmas Classic after beating Peninsula High 44-32 on Dec. 23. The Lady Gladiators (7-5) will visit Santa Fe High on Tuesday.

The boys soccer team hasn't played since falling to Artesia 5-1 back on Dec. 20 to fall to 3-2-1 while the girls began the season with eight shutout losses before blanking San Gabriel High 5-0 on Dec. 17. While the boys will be off until their San Gabriel Valley League opener against Lynwood High on Jan. 10, the girls will host Savanna High on Wednesday.

JOHN GLENN

The basketball woes continue for both the boys and girls as they have combined for one win through this past Wednesday. The boys lone victory came on Dec. 2 and since then, the Eagles have dropped seven straight with the latest loss coming to Calvary Chapel Santa Ana High, 46-39, this past Wednesday in the Estancia Coast Classic. Glenn squared off against Calvary Chapel Downey High on Dec. 29.

The girls are competing in the Cantwell Sacred Heart of Mary Cardinal Classic and played Whittier High on Dec. 29. Today, the Lady Eagles, who have not scored more than 36 points through their first seven games, will play Palisades High. Both the boys and girls will be off all of next week before visiting La Mirada High on Jan. 9 in their Suburban League opener.

The boys soccer team, searching for its first victory, has scored two goals all season as it host Cantwell Sacred Heart of Mary High on Wednesday while the girls, who have been off since Dec. 15, are also winless and have scored three goals.

NORWALK

The boys basketball team is in the Whittier Christian Tournament where the Lancers have dropped two straight games. Norwalk (6-7), defeated Ontario High 59-44 this past Monday before falling to Hawai'i Baptist Academy 48-35 this past Tuesday and Whittier Christian High 61-35 the next night.

The Lady Lancers have been participating in the Garden Grove Tournament where they have split their last two games, beating the host school 48-43 this past Tuesday before losing to California High 50-38 this past Wednesday. Both Norwalk hoops teams will open Suburban League action at Mayfair High on Friday.

The boys soccer team was shutout by Pioneer High 8-0 last Thursday to fall to 4-2-1 as the Lancers will make up a game with Garden Grove High on Wednesday while the girls haven't played since tying Whitney High 0-0 on Dec. 20. The Lady Lancers have a record of 6-1-3 and will visit Mayfair on Friday while the boys will host the Monsoons.

VALLEY CHRISTIAN

While the boys basketball team wraps up play in the Orange Holiday Classic (see story), the girls are the hottest team in the area. The Lady Crusaders won the Villa Park Tournament following a 60-50 win over Pacifica High on Dec. 23 to improve to 11-3. V.C. will visit Mary Star of the Sea High on Tuesday before opening Olympic League action against Heritage Christian High on Thursday.

The last time the boys soccer team has been in action was on Dec. 16, a 2-1 loss to St. Margaret's High. The Crusaders are 4-6-1 and will host La Quinta High Tuesday before travelling to St. Anthony High on Wednesday.

The girls are competing in the Ontario Christian Christmas Classic where they have advanced to the championship game following victories over Palm Springs High (6-0) and St. Anthony High (1-0) this past Tuesday and Don Lugo High (1-1, but 3-1 in penalty kicks) this past Wednesday. The Lady Crusaders (7-4-2) faced Ontario Christian High on Dec. 29 and will host St. Anthony Wednesday.

WHITNEY

The boys basketball team dropped a 79-60 decision to South East High in the Rancho Alamitos Tournament this past Wednesday to even its record at 7-7. The girls haven't played since they were in the Valley Christian Tournament which ended on Dec. 17. Both teams will host Brethren Christian High on Friday in the Academy League opener.
